Identity verification

Companies House is introducing a new identity verification process to help deter those wishing to use companies for illegal purposes.

Anyone setting up, running, owning or controlling a company in the UK will need to verify their identity to prove they are who they claim to be.

Authorised Corporate Service Providers (ACSPs)

Registering as an Authorised Corporate Service Provider (ACSP) is a new requirement that will help us to know who's filing information on the public register. ACSPs are also known as Companies House authorised agents.

An authorised agent can be a business (for example, a limited company or partnership), or a person who files on behalf of others (sole trader).

Enforcement

How Companies House will take action to enforce the law when we identify non-compliance or breaches of the law.

We support business to comply with the law in a variety of ways. If businesses do not comply, we will consider enforcement options in line with our policy.

Where our guidance and support are not enough to encourage users to comply with the law or discourage misuse of our registers, we'll use our enforcement powers:

- predictably
- consistently
- judiciously
- in line with our strategic objectives

European and overseas companies

Some European entities formed under EU law can no longer be registered in the UK.

The filing requirements for a UK company or LLP with EEA corporate officers have changed. You must now provide the corporate officer's:

- name
- registered (or principal) office address
- legal form and its governing law
- register and registration number (if applicable)

Update your company's information online (https://www.gov.uk/file-changes-to-a-company-with-companies-house).

You can also file a paper form to:

- change details for a corporate director (CH02) (https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/change-the-details-of-a-corporate-director-ch02)
- change details for a corporate secretary (CH04) (https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/change-the-details-of-a-corporate-secretary-ch04)
